

ALTRUIC ADVISORS NAMES NEW PARTNER

JULY 2021

Altruic Advisors, an accounting firm serving nonprofit organizations, is pleased to announce the promotion of Sarah Taylor, CPA, to partner. Sarah Taylor joined Altruic Advisors in 2017 and was elevated to the role of accounting services manager in 2018. Sarah manages the firm's CFO Solutions division, which performs cloud-based virtual accounting and bookkeeping services for not-for-profit organizations across the United States.

"As a partner with Altruic Advisors, Sarah will continue to share her wealth of knowledge and experience with our clients and our team members," said Ryan Hagan, managing partner and founder of Altruic Advisors. "Sarah has spent many years helping nonprofit organizations create greater efficiencies in their accounting process, particularly with her work in implementing the various tech tools and web-based platforms as they are introduced in the marketplace. As a former accounting instructor, Sarah is also very skilled in educating nonprofit organizations as accounting standards continue to evolve. Sarah has the heart of a teacher; our clients and our team members are very fortunate to have her leading our firm's outsourced accounting service as it continues to grow."

Sarah Taylor is a certified public accountant and graduate of Monmouth University. Sarah has more than twenty years of accounting experience and began her career in public accounting, where she especially enjoyed working with nonprofit organizations. Her background also includes serving as the internal auditor for her alma mater and managing teams of accounting professionals.

"I am thrilled to become a partner at such an outstanding firm," said Sarah. "I find being even a small part of the extraordinary missions of our clients to be extremely rewarding. I am grateful to have an amazing team at Altruic to work with each day and look forward to developing my relationships with both our clients and our team in the years to come."

At Altruic Advisors, Sarah Taylor manages a geographically dispersed team working with nonprofit organizations from Colorado to Michigan, New York to Washington, DC. Following the firm's recent establishment of a new Minneapolis office, Sarah's leadership now extends into the state of Minnesota as well. Altruic's cloud-based paperless accounting solutions enables Sarah to serve a wide range of organizations across the nation. Her depth of experience with nonprofits of all sizes, missions, and locations makes her a valuable asset to the Altruic Advisors team. Sarah excels in helping nonprofit organizations streamline their accounting processes and create new administrative efficiencies, allowing clients to focus attention on achieving their mission.

Sarah is a lifelong resident of New Jersey, where she lives with her husband and children.

About Altruic Advisors: Altruic Advisors is a full-service accounting firm for nonprofit organizations. Founded by Ryan Hagan in 2012, Altruic Advisors is one of the very few accounting firms in the United States that works exclusively with not-for-profit clients. Altruic Advisors is headquartered in Ann Arbor, Michigan, with additional offices in Denver, Boulder, Colorado Springs, Lansing, Minneapolis, and Washington, DC.